2. Notwithstanding the prescription of these minimum standards which will apply generally, the head of a department may direct that no one shall be appointed to a post in the superior service in his department to specified offices or areas unless he possesses higher qualifications (to be specified) than those prescribed in paragraph 1.

(9) A candidate having completed his paper will rise from his seat and remain standing until the Superintendent takes his answer papers. Any candidate wishing to ask any question of the Superintendent will pursue the same course, but will on no account leave his place.

SPECIFICATION FOR MATERIALS.

Lime.—The lime shall be properly slaked with water not less than one week or more than three weeks before use. The slaking shall be carried out on a suitable platform of dry bricks and not on the bare ground. The lime after slaking shall be screened through screens of not less than 140 meshes per square inch and the coarse shall be rejected. If the slaked lime is stored, it must be properly covered over and the lime shall be used within 14 days after removal from the kiln.

All lime that has been in any way damaged by rain, dirt or moisture shall be rejected and all rejected lime shall be removed from the site of work within 24 hours.

Surki.—Surki shall be made from fully burnt brick. The pounded brick must be perfectly clean, free from admixture of foreign matter and must be passed through a screen of 256 meshes per square inch before being mixed with the lime.

Sand.—The sand used in mortar and concrete shall be highly adhesive, coarse in texture, clean, sharp and gritty to the touch. It shall be carefully freed by washing and screening from saltpetre, earth, and other impurities. Fine drift sand or such as may be mixed with salt should on no account be used.

Cement.—Cement shall fulfil the requirements of the British Standard specification and shall be obtained from approved firms. Notice of arrival of cement shall be given to the Executive Engineer immediately it reaches the work spot and he shall be empowered to open as many bags or barrels as he thinks fit for purposes of taking test samples. Cement shall be stored in a dry place in barrels or bags bearing the maker's name until it is passed by the Executive Engineer for use. In general, slow setting cement should be used unless otherwise specified.

Water.—The water used for mixing concrete or for other works shall be fresh and clear. Silty or brakish water must not be used without special sanction of the Executive Engineer.

General.—Any materials pronounced to be inferior shall be removed at the contractor's expense from the work spot within 24 hours after written information to that effect has been furnished by the Executive Engineer or his representative.

The Executive Engineer or his authorized subordinate shall have power to reject at any stage of the work any materials which were found to be defective in quality or workmanship and he shall not be debarred from rejecting wrought materials by reason of his having previously passed the same in an unworked state.

Surki mortar.—Surki mortar shall consist of the proportions one lime, half surki, one and half sand. The mortar shall be ground in bullock mill, unless it is decided to use a mechanically driven mortar mill as may be decided by the Executive Engineer.

The slaked lime is to be first put to the bullock mill and ground for 180 revolutions with a sufficience of water. Thoroughly washed sand is to be then added evenly and the whole again ground for another 180 revolutions. The surki shall be put in along with lime and ground with it.

The mortar must be mixed continuously during the process particularly in the angles of the mill trough and only sufficient water added to bring it to a stiff paste.

All mortar should be used as soon as possible after grinding. As a rule, it should be used on the day it is made and no mortar should be permitted to be used or remain on the work 72 hours after it has been ground. In all cases the mortar must be kept damp and not allowed to dry and it must be protected from sun and rain.

Concrete broken stone in surki mortar.—The broken stone shall consist of hard blue or grey granite or as may be approved by the Executive Engineer according to the varieties available in the locality. It shall pass in any direction through a two inch ring. It shall be free from impurities, such as earth, twigs, straw, etc, and it shall be thoroughly watted before mixing. It shall be mixed with the mortar in the proportion of one of mortar to two and a half of broken stone. The broken stone and mortar shall be thoroughly incorporated by turning over and over several times until every part of the stones is sufficiently coated with mortar.

The concrete shall be used while quite fresh. It shall be laid and not thrown in layers not exceeding six inches in thickness and shall be well and quickly rammed with heavy wooden or iron rammers until the mortar has partially set.

The concrete laid should not be of too fluid-like a consistency after it has been mixed no more water should be added except that the surface during and after consolidation should be kept damp, and in laying consecutive layers the lower course should be well watered before the upper one is laid.

Coursed rubble in surki mortar.—The stone shall be laid in horizontal courses not less than six inches in height. All the stones in each course shall be of equal height and all courses of the same height unless otherwise specified in which case, no course shall be thinner than any course beneath it. All stones to be set full in mortar.

The face stones shall be squared on all joints and beds. The beds to be hammer dressed or chisel dressed true and square for at least six inches to eight inches back from the face and the joints for at least one and half inches of the face. The face of the stones to be hammer dressed and bushing not more than half inch.

No pinnings will be allowed on the face. All side joints shall be vertical and beds horizontal, and no joint shall be more than ½" in thickness.

No face stones shall be less in breadth than its height nor shall it tail into the work to a length less than its height and at least one-third of the stones shall tail into the work at least twice their heights or in thick walls three times their heights. Through stones shall be inserted at 5 to 6 feet apart in every course and shall run right through the wall when it is not more than 2 feet thick. When the work is more than 2 feet thick a line of two or more headers or stones shall be laid from face to back which shall overlap each other at least 6 inches; stones shall break joint at least half the height of the course.

The quoins, which shall be of the same height as the course in which they occur, shall be formed of header stones at least 1½ feet long laid length-wise alternately along each face. They should be laid square on their beds which should be dressed for a depth of at least 4 inches.

The interior of the wall shall consist of flat bedded stones carefully laid and solidly bedded in mortar, chips and spauls or stone being wedged in wherever necessary so as to avoid thick beds or joints of mortar and no dry work or hollow spaces shall be left anywhere in the masonry. The face work and backing shall be brought up evenly, but the backing should not be levelled up at each course with the use of chips.

Random rubble in surki mortar.—The face stones shall be laid absolutely without pinning on the face. Every stone shall be carefully fitted so as to form neat and close joints and, if necessary, the edges shall be chisel dressed to ensure close jointed work. Joints not to exceed half inch in thickness.

The stones shall be roughly chisel dressed and uniformly coloured and of fairly equal size on the face. They shall be carefully laid and solidly bedded in mortar and shall tail back and bond well in the backing and shall not be of greater height than either breadth of face or length of tail in the work.

One header or through stone shall be inserted at least every square yard in the face and shall run right through the wall if not more than 3 feet thick. If more than 2 feet thick, a line of these shall be laid from face to back which shall overlap each other at least 6 inches. The stones shall be laid to break joint as much as possible and long vertical lines of jointing shall be avoided. Quoins to be same as specification for coursed rubble.

Dry stone revetments.—The stones shall be perfectly sound and as regular in shape as possible and their lengths approximately equal to the thickness of the required revetment without backing.

The bank on which revetment is to be laid shall be trimmed to the required slope and profiles put up by means of string or pegs at regular intervals as may be ordered by the supervising officer to ensure correct and uniform slope.

The stones shall be laid closely in position and firmly bedded, the length being made perpendicular to the face of the work. All voids shall be filled with stone chips and the backing shall be of gravel 6 inches thick laid in 3 inches depth of layers well watered and rammed; the backing shall be carried up simultaneously with the revetment.

Pointing with surki mortar.—Pointing shall, as far as possible, be done while the mortar in the joints is 'green' and fresh. The old mortar shall be raked out of the joints at least ½ inch deep, the dust shall then be brushed out and the work well watered. The joints of the pointed work shall be neatly defined by the pointing and the lines shall be regular and uniform in breadth and the joints shall be raised or flat as may be directed. No false joints will be allowed. When stock pointing is required, it should project from the joints so as to form a narrow white ridge, the edges of which should be cut off parallel so as to leave a raised line about ½ inch wide.

The work pointed shall be kept wet for three days after the pointing is completed. All face or visible work shall be pointed unless otherwise specified.

Cement pointing.—Cement pointing shall be executed as rapidly as possible and not again touched after it has once begun to set. It must then be kept constantly watted for 7 days. The mortar for pointing shall consist of equal parts of Portland cement and sand.

Cuttcha work.—This shall be of granite hard and free from faults. The stones shall be properly cut and dressed to the required dimensions. They shall be laid on their beds and set in the walls accurately level and true. All stones shall be well watered and cleaned of all dirt and earth before setting and shall be set in the best manner possible with fine joints either in cement or other mortar as specified. All visible edges shall be chisel dressed two lines and the chiseled surfaces should extend to at least 3 inches from the outer face into the joints.

Plastering with mortar.—The mortar shall consist of lime, surki and sand or lime and sand only or cement and sand mixed in the proportion specified, the materials conforming to the specification given for materials. In the case of ordinary lime and surki mortar the mortar shall be ground fine with additional number of revolutions in the mortar mill or by grinding in a hand mill or stone slab. All the joints in the masonry shall be raked out to ½ inch depth if not done already at the time of construction. The wall shall be washed with fresh water and thoroughly wetted for 6 hours before plastering is commenced.' The plaster shall then be applied to the walls to the required thickness which is generally ½ inch thick unless otherwise ordered and levelled with a flat wooden rub when it shall be beaten until no impression is made on the surface.

If only one coat is specified, the coat shall be roughly smoothed off with a wooden rubber or floater sprinkling with lime water over the surface and finished with a trowel.

If more than one coat is specified, the first coat shall be allowed to set but not to become dry before the second coat is laid, the surface being cut rough and freely scoured all over with the edge of trowel to receive the next coat. The subsequent coats shall be laid down to ½ inch thickness in the manner prescribed. The last coat shall be smoothed with a wooden rubber and polished off with a trowel sprinkling occasionally with pure lime water solution.

The plaster shall be kept well watered for not less than 10 days after completion.

Central Jail, Vellore,

AUCTION FOR THE SUPPLY OF MANUFACTORY DEPARTMENT MISCELLANEOUS ARTICLES TO THE DISTRICT JAIL, PALAMCOTTAH, FOR THE YEAR ENDING 31st DECEMBER 1927.

Notice is hereby given that the Superintendent will hold an auction at the District Jail, Palamcottah, on Friday the 10th December 1926, at 11 a.m., for the supply of the following articles during the year 1927. Intending bidders are requested to be punctual. In the case of suppliers who may be unable to attend the auction, sealed tenders will be accepted, provided they reach the Superintendent on or before the day and hour mentioned above, and are accompanied by the earnest-money specified in the schedule. Tenders, which will only be received on printed forms to be had free of cost on application, should be superscribed "Tender for the supply of miscellaneous articles to the District Jail, Palamcottah". They will be opened at the time of auction and the offered rates considered along with the bids. The rates should be quoted in pounds and ounces per rupee for delivery at the District Jail, Palamcottah, the quantities being specified in words as well as in figures. Samples of the articles required can be seen at the auction. Suppliers may bid or tender for all or any one of the articles mentioned in the schedule on depositing the requisite earnest-money. All supplies must be up to the samples accepted by them or approved by the Superintendent.

2. Successful bidders or tenderers will be required to enter into stamped agreements with the Jail within seven days from the date of receipt of intimation by them that their rates have been accepted. In addition, they should, before signing such agreements, deposit a security of ten per cent of the total value of the supplies undertaken (with the approval of the Inspector-General of Prisons, the total amount may be reduced in the case of approved contractors). Failing compliance within the time specified, the earnest-money may be confiscated, and, in the event of withdrawal, they will also be liable to pay any difference between the prices accepted and those ultimately obtained by the Jail. The earnest-money received from successful bidders or tenderers will be taken towards their security deposits and those from others returned at the close of the auction.

3. The Superintendent reserves the right to accept or reject any bid or tender without assigning any reason.

4. Contracts should not be sublet.

5. Any rates accepted and contracts entered into will be subject to confirmation by the Inspector-General of Prisons, Ootacamund, whose decision shall also be final in all questions of infringement.

6. As the quantities given against each article in the schedule are only approximate, contractors will be under an obligation to supply the entire requirements during the period of the contract, plus as much as may be needed to last for a whole month thereafter, provided, in respect of the extra quantities, that written orders are given within a fortnight of the termination of the agreement. At the same time, the Superintendent does not bind himself to receive the quantities or numbers noted in the schedule if they are not required.

7. No article is to be supplied to the Jail except on a requisition signed by the Superintendent or some responsible person authorised by him in writing to do so "by order".

8. No advance of cash will on any account be made to the contractors when giving orders, nor will the Jail pay freight or other charges on consignments to be afterwards deducted from bills, but payment for articles delivered at the Jail on order will be made promptly after they have been inspected and passed. Contractors must submit to receive payment of their bills in whole rupees, to which end annas forming part of the sum due on each bill will be disregarded, unless they constitute a fraction equivalent to half-rupee or more, when they will be treated as a whole rupee for the purposes of the account.

9. During the prevalence of plague in the vicinity of the Jail or in that of the areas from which supplies are drawn, all grain, etc., will be liable to be first exposed to the sun outside before being taken in, also if for any other reason the Superintendent considers exposition of articles to sun necessary.

10. Contractors are required (under a penalty not exceeding Rs. 25) to invariably send with each supply a memo or advice note, duly signed, showing the number or quantity tendered for acceptance; also to sign and return within a week of payment by cheque, cash order, or remittance transfer receipts, all connected bills forwarded by the Superintendent for the purpose. Questions in connexion with any supposed short payment may be referred to the Superintendent separately, but are not to be made an excuse for delay or refusal to sign.

11. In addition to any difference in prices that may be recoverable from contractors on account of purchase rendered necessary elsewhere by failure, neglect, or refusal on their part to supply according to the terms of their agreements, a fine not exceeding Rs. 50 may be levied at the discretion of the Superintendent for each and every such case of default. For the repeated infringement of the stipulations of the contract or for other justifiable reasons, he may also annul it, recovering all losses sustainable by the Jail in consequence of the annulment, from the security deposited by the contractors, or other monies due to them, and, in the event of any residue, by legal measures, if so advised.

12. All wastage found to occur in excess of the respective percentages prescribed in the schedule will have to be made good by the contractors.

13. Further information on any point concerning this notification may be had from the Jail office.

14. When once the rates offered at an auction or by tender have been accepted, lower quotations from others to the Superintendent or to the Inspector-General of Prisons will not be considered.

CULTIVATION STATEMENT—SEPTEMBER 1926—REVIEW.

(On an average of the five years ending 1925-26 the area sown from April to September represents 53 per cent on dry lands and 52 per cent on wet lands.)

General.—Fairly good rain was received during the month in most districts. The rainfall during the month was generally adequate except in the Carnatic and parts of the Circars and the Central districts. Water-supply was generally sufficient except in parts of South Arcot, Salem, Ramnad and the non-Periyar areas of Madura.

Transplantation or sowing of paddy was general in most districts. Ragi was sown or transplanted in Nellore, Coimbatore, Madura and Ramnad, cholam in East Godavari, Kistna, the Deccan, Coimbatore, Trichinopoly and Madura, cumbu in Coimbatore, Trichinopoly and Madura, and chillies in Kistna and Guntur. Other crops sown were korra in the Deccan and Madura, varagu in Kurnool and Madura, pulses in East Godavari, Anantapur, Coimbatore and Madura, groundnut in the Deccan, South Arcot, Coimbatore and Madura and cotton in Guntur and the Deccan. Sugarcane was planted in Coimbatore.

2. April to September 1926—Sowings—Dry.—The area sown from April to September exceeded the average by 2 per cent, but was less than last year's figures by 4 per cent. The decrease compared with the last year was mainly in Kurnool, Cuddapah and South Arcot. There was, however, an appreciable increase in Bellary and Coimbatore.

Wet.—The total area sown from April to September was more than the average by 8 per cent, but was less than last year's figures by 2 per cent. The increase over the average was mainly in West Godavari, Kistna and Anantapur.
